OPA CLAMPS ON MORE RENT LIDS

Price Control Ends On Household Items Manufactured Here

Shortage of Raw Materials for Plants Still Delays Production

Two major Mansfield industries were affected by the termination today of price controls on hundreds of household items, including all small electrical appliances.

Westinghouse Electric corporation and Dominion Electrical Manufacturing, Inc., both produce household appliances which were decontrolled by OPA.

In addition, the Mansfield Metal Vault company, manufacturers of metal burial vaults, was freed of price controls in an OPA order eliminating controls on a long list of non-household articles.

Another household item manufactured by a Mansfield company which still is under government controls are cooking stoves, produced here by the Tappan Stove company.

Shortages Hamper.

A Westinghouse official said today that the only two items now being produced at the plant here which were decontrolled were irons and roasters.

He pointed out that although price ceilings were lifted from a long list of household goods nominally made at the Mansfield plant, shortages of steel and other raw materials have prevented the company from placing them on the production line.

Among such articles, the spokesman said, were toasters, grills, waffle irons, coffee makers and other electrical household goods.

* * *

Plans No Price Hike.

Leonard Hurwitz, comptroller of the Dominion Electrical Manufacturing, Inc., said the "complete line" of the company has been decontrolled by the OPA order.

The company produces irons, toasters, waffle irons and hot plates.

"We don't intend to raise our prices; even though price ceilings have been lifted, unless production costs make such action unavoidable," he said.

BOTH PARTIES BACK LEVIES

School and Recreation Proposals Win Endorsements of Democrats, GOP.

Richland county's Republicans last night joined their Democratic opponents in endorsing all of the county's 11 tax levies and the lone bond issue which will appear on ballots at the Nov. 5 election.

Meeting in the probate court rooms, the GOP county executive committee went on record as supporting all of the levies and the bond issue. Nine of the levies are for school districts, largely to finance teacher salary increases, one is for the current operating expenses of the village of Butler and the other is to provide Mansfield with a supervised recreation program.

The bond issue, for $600,000 would provide Shelby with two new school buildings and improvements to the high school building and athletic field.

Yesterday George W. Biddle, chairman of the Democratic county central committee, announced that his party's executive committee had approved all of the levies and the bond issue.

Meanwhile, eight more groups endorsed the Mansfield school district's three-mill levy.

Bringing to 84 the number of endorsements, endorsements announced today were voted by A. I. Harrington post, VFW; Mansfield Council 102, Junior Order of United American Mechanics; Court Mansfield 1455, Independent Order of Foresters; the Round Table club; the Garden Study club; Pi Alpha Gamma sorority; Courtney Camp 3505, Modern Woodmen of America, and Local 711, United Electrical Workers (CIO).

2 DEM RALLIES SLATED TONIGHT

Two Democratic rallies here tonight and one tomorrow afternoon —with Gov. Frank J. Lausche scheduled to appear at the latter—stimulated political campaigning in Richland county today.

Meanwhile, the Republicans tapered off their drive with personal contact and work by individual candidates and precinct committeemen.

The Democratic campaign committee will present Timothy S. Hogan, candidate for attorney general; Wesley W. Purdy, candidate for congress in the 17th district; Harry M. Bowman, candidate for county representative to the Ohio legislature, at a meeting in John Simpson auditorium at 8 p. m. today.

Another Democratic meeting at the same hour tonight has been scheduled by the Colored Democratic club at 305 North Main street where Lt. Gov. George D. Nye, running for re-election; Charles F. Sweeney, candidate for secretary of state, Purdy and other local candidates will speak.

The meeting at which Gov. Lausche and local standard bearers are to appear will be held in Central park at 3 p. m. tomorrow if the weather is good. If it rains the rally will be held in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. All three meetings are open to the public.

Ralph Hardy, chairman of the Republican executive committee, said his organization last night discussed methods of turning out GOP votes Tuesday.

"No more meetings have been scheduled by the Republicans. Most of the work now will be individual campaigning by candidates and work by precinct committeemen," Hardy said.

FRONTIER GUARDS FIGHT

LONDON —(INS)— The Belgrade radio said today that Albanian frontier guards repulsed an invasion of armed Greeks in a 45-minute battle.

BECAUSE OF the long hair you'd take this 13-year-old to be a girl. But you'd be wrong. Jimmy Garvin of Washington, D. C., wears his golden tresses at full shoulder length and is anything but a "sissy." He takes plenty of teasing but sometimes tires of it and slaps his tormentors down. He wants to be a baseball or football star. Eleven years ago Jimmy gave himself a free hair cut and never quite recovered from it. Since then he has refused to let anyone cut his hair. VANDALS AGAIN ENDANGER LIVES OF MOTORISTS

Wire Fence and Boulder Are Placed in Streets; Children Lectured.

For the second time in less than a week, vandals last night endangered Mansfield motorists by placing roadblocks in the street.

Sheriff's officers reported today that vandals placed a wire fence across Grace street at Indiana avenue about 7 p. m. yesterday.

A few minutes later, a boulder approximately one foot in diameter and a large sign was placed in Grace street between Ashland road and Indiana avenue.

Deputies found a group of teenaged children in the vicinity. The group was given a lecture and dispersed.

Seven other cases of pre-Halloween vandalism were listed by Mansfield police within a two-hour period last night.

Police reported boys burning leaves in the street at Parkwood boulevard and Summit street; a car locked and keys taken on Woodhill road; a garage "messed up" on Highland avenue; street lights broken on Helen avenue; windows broken at Johnny Appleseed junior high school; a window broken on Western avenue, and a stone thrown through a car window on Sherman avenue.

'Stay Home at Night' Order Issued to Boys

Three teen-aged boys today were ordered by Juvenile Judge S. H. Cramer to stay indoors after dusk for the balance of the month unless accompanied by their parents as punishment for a pre-Halloween incident last night.

The youths, two of whom were 16 and one 15 years old, were caught last night by fleet-footed Dr. Ralph E. Wharton, 408 Davis road, after they had removed porch furniture and a gate off a fence on his property and taken the articles to Woodland school.

Judge Cramer termed the incident a "prank" rather than vandalism, because no property was destroyed and the youths returned the articles after they were caught by Dr. Wharton.

FAITH FAILS TO SAVE BOY

PHILIP BOWERS
Dies In Sleep

KANSAS CITY, Mo. —(UP)— Eleven year old Philip Bowers, whose only treatment for dread infantile paralysis was prayer, died in his sleep while his parents sat hopefully at the bedside.

The boy slipped into a coma yesterday morning and doctors who answered an emergency call early today said he had been dead 24 hours.

Mrs. Fred Bowers, the mother, for two weeks ignored the advice of doctors that the child be removed to a hospital for medical attention. She insisted Philip would recover through the prayers of the faithful of the "In the Name of Jesus Church."

"Philip begged the Lord to take him to Heaven. We are not bigger than the Lord," she said today.

Drs. Edward E. Greenough and Robert Schuyler, General Hospital internees, said death was due either to a ruptured bladder or respiratory failure, indicated by a hemorrhage at the mouth.

Dr. Greenough said in his first examination of the child that he had a paralyzed bladder.

GIFTS BACK ON STORE SHELVES

Hard-to-Get Items Returning; Buyers Don't Heed Early Shopping Warning.

By MARGUERITE MILLER

With the cheers of the football fans still ringing in the air, Mansfield stores are preparing for the tinkle of sleigh bells.

Most shelves are filled and running over—an unfamiliar sight during the past five years. But Mansfielders haven't begun to dig into the family sock to fill Santa's.

Only a few shoppers are heeding the annual "shop-early-for-Christmas" admonition, retailers report. With 46 shopping days left, purchases so far haven't indicated any great increase, merchants said.

Reluctance on the part of customers to buy costly and federal-taxed items, such as jewelry and women's purses is reported. One department head in a downtown store estimated that sales in these items are 50 per cent below those of this time last year.

* * *

Requesting Lay-Aways.

Only noticeable activity in the Christmas buying line was reported by a linen counter clerk, who said that women were beginning to request lay-aways on linen towels, luncheon and dinner cloths.

A swing back to practical gift buying is foreseen by men's clothing stores which report good stocks of everything except shirts, pajamas and suits.

While Mansfielders may not have caught the yule shopping spirit, they are making a heavy run on greeting cards. One store which has a huge annual turnover of cards, reported that card-senders have been buying boxed greeting cards since Sept. 15 and that many styles have been reordered in order to carry through the holiday season rush.

Moreover, the cards are arriving in unlimited quantities and patterns with many pre war papers, such as parchment and Swiss prints, re-appearing.

Gift Boxes Back.

Gift boxes, which were in the "needle-in-the-haystack" class last year, will appear in stores this season, despite the shortage of paper products. A manager of a downtown men's store said he had received a truckload of gift boxes this week—the most he's had for the past four years.

Although he said he's receiving 66 per cent more suits and trousers than last year, many of the boxes will be used for sweaters and jackets, since the supply of suits still doesn't meet the demand.

Some of the "scarce" merchandise, which shoppers will find this Christmas includes men's lounging robes and pure silk ties; rhinestone jewelry made up of imported stones; kid and suede gloves for both men and women; a wider selection of linens, both by the yard and made-up; lipstick in metal cases, metal compacts, attractively bottled perfumes and cologne and nail clips and scissors.

SEEK DEATH MOTIVE

STEUBENVILLE—(AP)—Jefferson county authorities today sought a motive in the death of Mrs. Fred Stine of nearby East Springfield, 50-year-old mother of nine, after Coroner W. H. Rogers said she was slain and not the victim of a traffic accident, as originally reported.

IN A SPEECH lasting an hour and eight minutes, Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov urged the U. N. general assembly to adopt a four-point plan for world disarmament, climaxing a bitter address in which he accused the U. S. of seeking world domination through the atomic bomb.—(International Soundphoto.)

Baruch Calls Molotov Atomic Plan 'Suicide'

NEW YORK—It was definite today that the United States has no intention of giving up its atomic energy secrets under such a plan of control as has been advanced by Russia—in brief, national controls with the U. N. security council taking action in the case of any abuse.

Bernard M. Baruch, American delegate on the U. N. atomic energy commission, who authored the U.S. plan for an international control authority, made this plain last night.

The venerable Baruch, who was so bitterly assailed by Molotov, declared a few hours after the Soviet foreign minister's speech:

* * *

No Surrender.

"There will be no surrender of the bomb unless and until we know that all other countries are prevented from doing the thing we would be giving up—bomb-making. Are we to be the only ones to disarm? That way is suicide."

Thus, with Molotov's contemptuous rejection of the Baruch formula as a clever scheme to retain a U. S. monopoly on the atomic bomb, the skids appeared to be under the Soviet disarmament proposal before it was even debated.

Another V-Day Coming Soon

V-day is less than a week away.

During the dark days of the war, V-days were hard won, and the lives of thousands were given to achieve victory.

Now a new kind of V-day—for an ancient and glorious privilege—approaches.

Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, this new V-day has meaning for every citizen of Mansfield.

Makin Flays Veto, Backs Baruch Atom Plan

(Compiled from Wire Dispatches)

NEW YORK — (INS) — Australia today made the first answer to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's blistering speech which startled the general assembly of the United Nations yesterday.

N. J. O. Makin, chief Australian delegate, took sharp issue with Molotov's warning that abrogation of the veto power would mean "liquidation of the United Nations."

Makin, who is opposed to the veto, charged the Soviet spokesman with a "distortion of facts," as he said pointedly "up to date the (veto) theory has not worked in practice."

* * *

Claims Failure.

"Again and again, both in London and New York, the veto was used by one of the permanent members of the security council (Russia) to thwart the clear majority of the council."

The Soviet leader, in his challenging policy speech, topped off his remarks with a four-point arms reduction program, including a request for action by the assembly to try to get the United States to stop making atomic bombs.

The Australian then scoffed at Molotov's assertions regarding control of atomic energy.

"I cannot feel that the U.N. charter would be undermined by the Baruch plan," he said, pledging Australia's full support of the U. S. plan for an international con-

Molotov assailed Winston Churchill as a "prophet" of "aggressive, imperialist circles" in America and Britain and blasted Bernard Baruch, U. S. member of the U.N. atomic commission, for allegedly holding a "militant philosophy" leading toward a "new aggression."

He attacked the American atomic control plan as designed to give this country an atomic monopoly, asserted abolition of the veto would wreck the United Nations, and demanded a U.N. report on American and British troops in foreign lands Capping off his address with the four-point arms reduction plan, he urged the assembly to act on it at once.

This produced one of the most dramatic incidents in the assembly to date.

MAIL SPEEDUP TEST SUCCESS

An airmail letter on the desk of Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford gave testimony today of the feasibility of daily exchange of air mail between Mansfield and Cleveland.

The letter bore a cancellation "Cleveland 11 a. m." It was in Mansfield in time for delivery yesterday afternoon The letter had been carried to Cleveland on the souvenir airmail flight that left Mansfield airport about 10 a. m.

In Cleveland, it was canceled by postal officials and placed aboard the plane piloted by R. E. Owens of Harrington Air Service Inc., for return to Mansfield.

Full Day Saved.

"This flight shows that under an established air-mail route between Cleveland and comparable places it would be possible to make afternoon delivery of mail from those cities which now is delivered the day following its arrival here," Ford pointed out.

"Sales of air mail stamps have been at the rate of 1,000 a day this week with air-mail envelopes averaging 250 per day," he continued. "This is far in advance of our heavy sales period during the first three weeks in October when 15,000 stamps were sold."

"These sales indicate definitely that the post office department was right in believing that regular air-mail service at reduced rates would produce greater volume. Clerks, carriers, and other department officials are assisting to the best of their ability to further this service."

LILIENTHAL URGES WORLD ATOMIC RULE

PHILADELPHIA— (INS) —David E. Lilienthal, U. S. atomic energy chairman, called today for a global atomic development authority as a means of obtaining peacetime unison among nations.

The new atomic control chief, in a "formula for world peace" address at Philadelphia, denied that the outlawing of the atomic bomb would serve as any insurance against future wars.

He pointed out, however, that while world control of atomic energy will not "guarantee an end to war," it would aid in preventing wars by eliminating "constant fear of surprise attack by this surprise weapon."

AGENCY WILL ADD 88 NEW AREAS FRIDAY

Broad Expansion Will Bring 323,549 Rental Units Under Ceilings.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A wide extension of rent ceilings effective Nov. 1, was announced today by OPA.

The agency announced that 88 more rental areas with a total population of more than 3,500,000 will be brought under rental ceilings Friday.

Eighty-one of these areas are being controlled for the first time while rent ceilings are being restored in the remaining seven.

At the same time the Bluefield, W. Va., area will be extended to include Boone, Fayette and Summers conuties.

These 88 areas had a total of 323,549 rental units in 1940, OPA said.

Areas Total 650.

The agency said that the new additions bring the nation's rental areas up to 650 and that "few additional areas will require controls because today's list covers those in which rent pressures have been mounting since the war."

Government officials said they had been watching rents throughout the country since the end of the war and that the housing shortage "has been becoming more acute."

They said that action in many of the areas going under ceilings next month resulted from appeals or petitions by local officials.

Shortage Growing.

"Increasing employment by local industry, return of veterans and their families have contributed to the housing shortage in most areas," they said.

Included in the new ceiling areas are 23 college towns where the return of veterans and students has aggravated housing shortages.

U. S. COTTON MARTS CLOSE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The nation's principal cotton exchanges suddenly were slammed shut today for the third time in less than two weeks after the price of king cotton tumbled by an extreme of more than $50 a bale.

The New York Cotton Exchange acted swiftly this morning, only a few minutes before trading was to open. The New Orleans and Chicago Exchanges followed immediately. The Dallas, Tex. Exchange refused to close.

Frank J. Knell, president of the New York Exchange, said only that "numerous requests have been received from shipping centers in the cotton belt, pleading for a temporary suspension of trading in cotton futures to allow for an orderly survey of the spot situation in the south."

In an apparent move to prevent panic selling by hard-hit cotton producers, the department of agriculture in Washington issued a statement that the cotton crop was in a "favorable statistical position."

The disruption of cotton trading in the last two weeks has been all but unprecedented.

On October 8 cotton for delivery in December was selling at a 26-year high of 39 13 cents a pound. At the close of trading yesterday it had hit a low of 29.15 a pound, a drop of approximately $50 a 500-pound bale.

Woman Has Date With Life, Death

JOPLIN, Mo. —(AP)— Crippled Zoe Tucker Peterson's "rendezvous with life" ended in death after she had achieved her lifelong dream to give birth to a baby.

Before she died she smiled when she saw her baby, a four-and-one-half pound boy, normal though premature.

Mrs. Peterson's rendezvous with life and death came yesterday—on her 32nd birthday. For the last 12 years she had been bedfast with arthritis.

Some time ago she announced she was going to have a baby.

"All of my adult life I have had a rendezvous with death," Zoe said. "Now I have a rendezvous with life. My baby will live and will be loved. The doctors have told me I have a 50-50 chance. I am happy because never before have I had that much of a chance."

She was showered with gifts of baby blankets, tiny shoes and baby clothes. Widely-known for her cheerful disposition, she became afflicted with arthritis at 17. At 20 she was bedridden. Her husband is Earl Peterson, a laborer, who was a childhood friend.

Yesterday she was taken to the hospital and the child was born through a caesarean operation. Several hours later Zoe died.

The baby, Doctors reported, has a good chance for survival.

POLICE HOLD TWO

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Joseph Bango, 29, and Steve J. Sedlock, 28, both of Canton, were held by police today on charges of armed robbery in connection with the Sept. 1 holdup of the Kibitzer club in which 20 persons were robbed of more than $5,500.

BALMY WEATHER BREAKS RECORDS

More summer-like weather was in sight today for Mansfielders, but the weatherman said it probably wouldn't last over the weekend.

Partly cloudy, warm, and humid was the forecast for tonight and tomorrow with a turn to cooler probable by Friday or Saturday, the weatherman said.

The mercury climbed far above normal October readings yesterday and was headed there again today. It was 76 in Mansfield yesterday and dropped only to 60 during the night. Chesapeake, on the Ohio river, reported 81 yesterday. A reading of 78 in Cleveland set a new record for the date. The previous high was 76 last year.

TROOPS SET TO ATTACK

MANILA—(INS)—Philippine government troops, including a field artillery battalion, were reported in position today to launch an attack on a force of 1,000 peasants of the outlawed Hukbalahap army in central Luzon.

Quit Harping On Business Slump, Or It'll Come, Warns CPA Chief

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Quit harping on the inevitability of a new business recession. You may talk us into one.

That was the word today from John D. Small, civilian production administrator.

"Even if a recession comes," Small added, "I don't think it will amount to much."

Small handed out a September production report that showed continued high-level output of most things except shoes. And people have plenty of money to buy with, it added.

Small said he was confident industry and business generally would resist the temptation to price themselves out of a market. And he called for "a spirit of compromise" in settling wage adjustments.

He predicted an early decline in the prices of food and textiles, two important items in the cost of living. But these won't be so severe they will damage the farmer's purchasing power, re added.

He said civilian employment in September declined by 600,000 to 57,400,000. And income payments, at the rate of $165,000,000,000 a year, were off somewhat from an earlier peak but were still six per cent above V-J Day. Farm income is up 20 per cent.

Unemployment remains low, totalling only 2,070,000.

Building materials showed good increases in September, he said. So did most consumer goods and cotton and woolen cloth. Shoe output dropped another 11 per cent to 41,000,000 pairs, the result of low slaughter rate.

Residential building for the second straight month exceeded the rate set in 1925, the all-time record year. Currently home building is at an annual rate of $4,600,000,000.

ROTARY LEADER URGES SERVICE

Rotary's opportunity for increased community and international service in the post-war era was emphasized at Tuesday's meeting by Paul V. Brown, of Tiffin, district governor of the 157th district of Rotary International, of which the Mansfield club is a part.

"A Larger View of Rotary, Worldwide," was the subject of Brown's talk. He told of the return of Rotary activities to some of the Axis countries from which the organization was barred during the war, and of the increase in clubs in the United States and in countries now recovering from the effects of war.

"There are now more than 5,900 clubs in 75 countries, with a total membership of more than 285,000," he said.

Vocational service of each club in its own community is to be emphasized this year, with continuance of efforts to further the program of world peace through better understanding.

A conference with club directors and committee chairmen preceded the district governor's address. Club president Robert K. Porter presided at the meeting, held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

A feature of the convention will be an open forum attended by representatives of industry, CIO, AFL and the USES. Topic of the forum will be "How Can the Public Best Fulfill Its Obligation To The Community."

A dinner and dance will be held at the Carter hotel at 6:30 p. m. Saturday.

LODGE HONORS ITS WAR VETS

A "Good Neighbor" program honoring ex-servicemen and women who are members of the Modern Woodmen of America will be held at North Lake park pavilion at 7:30 p. m., Nov. 9, G. Lynn Moore, secretary of Camp No. 3505, MWA, announced today.

Moore said a gift will be presented to all ex-servicemen and women attending the local meeting. An entertainment program also will be given.

A committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Moore, chairman, and Gladys Moore, Frances McFarland, Edward Wendland and Ray Laughman.

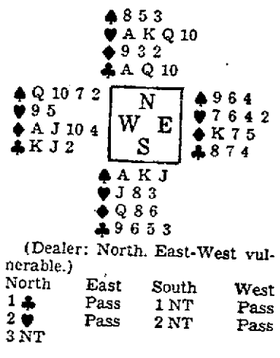
Barclay On Bridge

KEEN STUDENTS of efficient leading against No-Trump contracts have observed that, whenever it is possible to make an "honor combination" lead of an unbid suit, it us usually the best lead in the hand. An "honor combination," for leading purposes, may be defined as "any three or more of the six top cards of a four-or-more card suit, at least two of which are touching." Conventionally, the lead is "the top of the touching honors unless they include the ace and king, when the lead is the king." The reason those leads pay is that such suits are fairly near to being set up and require little to establish winners.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

West decided that, with so many cards in tenace positions, he should "lead short" to "avoid leading away from his tenaces." So he opened the heart 9, which was won by the J. South then finessed the club 10, led to the spade A, finessed the club Q, scored the club A, led to the spade K, scored the club 9, and then took three more tricks in hearts to make a total of 10.

That was a pretty bad score for East and West, but not as bad as that made at one other table in the duplicate, where West opened the 2 of the unbid major, spades. This "put pants on" the J, so that 11 tricks were scored for a North-South top.

At several tables, West understood the value of honor combination leads and opened the diamond J. East, of course, came in with the K and fired back the 7, so that the side got four tricks in a hurry, preventing any overtricks by South. The diamond J lead could hardly cost a trick unless the declarer's side had both the K and the Q, with one in his own hand and the other in dummy. It was by all odds the sound lead.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

MANY OHIO VETS STILL OWE TAX

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Many Ohio veterans owe the government income tax for the years they were in service, and Uncle Sam hasn't forgotten about it, it was learned today.

Deputy internal revenue collectors have been visiting vets and reminding them they must pay tax on all income from sources other than service pay.

All service pay of enlisted men after Dec. 31, 1940 was exempt and all officers were given a $1,500 exemption. But money earned after duty hours, or while still civilians before induction is taxable.

Single servicemen who made more than $500 outside regular pay should have filed an income tax return within six months after release from the service.

The internal revenue department, however, has announced it would be lenient with those not now able to pay. Veterans who are in doubt as to whether they owe taxes were urged to write their collector of internal revenue.

FFA Scrap Drive Set for Nov. 6

PERRYSVILLE — The Perrysville FFA chapter will stage a scrap paper and metal drive Wednesday Nov. 6. Should one day prove insufficient to collect all the scrap, officials said a second drive will be held Nov. 8.

Still classified as critical, scrap metal and paper are need for reconversion, the FFA pointed out. The chapter will canvass the bus routes and call at all homes in Perrysville during the drive.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

THE MISSING CLAM

Jerry Muskrat had dug two Clams from the bottom of the Smiling Pool and put them on the bank for jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun to open. It would save him a lot of work. He could have opened them himself with his long stout teeth, and had he been very hungry when he found them he would have opened them and eaten them. But he wasn't hungry just then; he had a lot of work to do preparing his house for winter, and the easiest and most sensible way to get those Clams was to leave them on the bank for Mr. Sun to open. They would have to be left there for quite a while for Mr. Sun would work slowly, but Jerry didn't mind that. He felt that they would be perfectly safe there. Who among his neighbors knew the trick of opening Clams? No one he could think of who was likely to be around in broad daylight. So Jerry kept busy with Mrs. Jerry making their house ready, now and then taking a look at the Clams to see if they were being opened

"How did you find out that Mr Sun will open Clams?" Peter Rabbit asked.

"I didn't find it out. One of my great-grandfathers long, long ago must have found it out, and the knowledge has been passed down to all Muskrats ever since. I've always known it, just as I've always known how to build a house out in the water," squeaked Jerry, and went off about his business.

Peter sat around for some time hoping that he would see those Clams opened. Finally he became tired and went off. When he returned he found Jerry Muskrat upset and in a bad temper. Yes, sir, Jerry was in a bad temper. One of those Clams was missing

"What did you do with that Clam?" he squeaked angrily when he caught sight of Peter.

"Don't be silly. What would I want of your old Clam? I don't eat Clams. If I did I couldn't open one. You know that as well as I do," retorted Peter.

"You could have carried it off and hidden it. You were the only one who knew those Clams were here It couldn't have gone away itself," squeaked Jerry

"I could have, but I didn't. And how do you know I am the only one who knew about those Clams?" retorted Peter. He was angry, too. No one likes to be told they have done something that they haven't done or even thought of doing.

Meanwhile Jerry ran about this way and that on the bank looking for the lost Clam and for a sign of some one who might have taken it. He even went into the water and dug around in the mud. He found nothing to give him the least idea of what had become of that Clam.

"How do you know I was the only one who knew about those Clams?" repeated Peter

"I kept my eyes on this place, and you were the only one I saw," retorted Jerry.

"What do you mean by pooh?" demanded Jerry, and his squeaky voice sounded angrier than ever.

"I mean just that—pooh! Not seeing anybody but me doesn't mean a thing You couldn't possibly watch those Clams when you were under water, or inside your house or when cutting rushes. A thief could have come and gone without being seen by you," retorted Peter, sharply.

"You were here most of the time; did you see anybody else around?" asked Jerry.

"No," replied Peter. "No one else was around while I was here, but I wasn't here all the time, and while I was here I dozed some. Want to know what I think?"

"What do you think?" asked Jerry.

"I think whoever took that Clam wanted it to eat and knew how to open it. That's what I think," replied Peter.

"So what?" demanded Jerry.

"So it must have been another Muskrat. Have you asked Mrs. Jerry?" replied Peter.

"Asked her what?" squeaked a sharp voice. Mrs. Jerry had come up unnoticed.

THE MISSING CLAM

Jerry Muskrat had dug two Clams from the bottom of the Smiling Pool and put them on the bank for jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun to open. It would save him a lot of work. He could have opened them himself with his long stout teeth, and had he been very hungry when he found them he would have opened them and eaten them. But he wasn't hungry just then; he had a lot of work to do preparing his house for winter, and the easiest and most sensible way to get those Clams was to leave them on the bank for Mr. Sun to open. They would have to be left there for quite a while for Mr. Sun would work slowly, but Jerry didn't mind that. He felt that they would be perfectly safe there. Who among his neighbors knew the trick of opening Clams? No one he could think of who was likely to be around in broad daylight. So Jerry kept busy with Mrs. Jerry making their house ready, now and then taking a look at the Clams to see if they were being opened.

"How did you find out that Mr. Sun will open Clams?" Peter Rabbit asked.

"I didn't find it out. One of my great-grandfathers long, long ago must have found it out, and the knowledge has been passed down to all Muskrats ever since. I've always known it, just as I've always known how to build a house out in the water," squeaked Jerry, and went off about his business.

Peter sat around for some time hoping that he would see those Clams opened. Finally he became tired and went off. When he returned he found Jerry Muskrat upset and in a bad temper. Yes, sir, Jerry was in a bad temper. One of those Clams was missing.

"What did you do with that Clam?" he squeaked angrily when he caught sight of Peter.

"Don't be silly. What would I want of your old Clam? I don't eat Clams. If I did I couldn't open one. You know that as well as I do," retorted Peter.

"You could have carried it off and hidden it. You were the only one who knew those Clams were here. It couldn't have gone away itself," squeaked Jerry.

"I could have, but I didn't. And how do you know I am the only one who knew about those Clams?" retorted Peter. He was angry, too. No one likes to be told they have done something that they haven't done or even thought of doing.

Meanwhile Jerry ran about this way and that on the bank looking for the lost Clam and for a sign of some one who might have taken it. He even went into the water and dug around in the mud. He found nothing to give him the least idea of what had become of that Clam.

"How do you know I was the only one who knew about those Clams?" repeated Peter.

"I kept my eyes on this place, and you were the only one I saw," retorted Jerry.

"What do you mean by pooh?" demanded Jerry, and his squeaky voice sounded angrier than ever.

"I mean just that—pooh! Not seeing anybody but me doesn't mean a thing. You couldn't possibly watch those Clams when you were under water, or inside your house or when cutting rushes. A thief could have come and gone without being seen by you," retorted Peter, sharply.

"You were here most of the time; did you see anybody else around?" asked Jerry.

"No," replied Peter. "No one else was around while I was here, but I wasn't here all the time, and while I was here I dozed some. Want to know what I think?"

"What do you think?" asked Jerry.

"I think whoever took that Clam wanted it to eat and knew how to open it. That's what I think," replied Peter.

"So what?" demanded Jerry.

"So it must have been another Muskrat. Have you asked Mrs. Jerry?" replied Peter.

"Asked her what?" squeaked a sharp voice. Mrs. Jerry had come up unnoticed.

STEEL SHARES GAIN BACKING

Turnover slowed after a moderately active opening as suspension of trading in the nation's major cotton futures markets inspired caution in some quarters. Toward mid-day the trend was still uncertain.

Demand for steels stemmed from third quarter earnings reports of several leading companies, including U. S Steel and Jones & Laughlin, which showed income as good or better than expected.

Fraction to a point or so ahead were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, and General Electric.

Bonds moved narrowly.

Rusk said that a pre... examination of existing wat... and sewer lines showed that they would have to be extended about 200 feet to connect with the area where commissioners are considering placing the home units.

The site, a 900-by-100-foot plot, is on county childrens home property not far from another area leased by the commissioners to the city for one of its emergency housing projects

The commissioners yesterday tentatively selected the site on condition that extension of the utility lines would not present too great an obstacle

It had been suggested that the county turn the management of the project over to the city Rusk said Raymond Friday, secretary of the Mansfield Metropolitan Housing authority, told him that the city agency might be able to use part of its $15,000 site preparation fund on the county project if such action were taken, thus allowing more of the county money to be spent on actual housing units

MOLOTOV TALK RAISES FEARS OF UN TENSION

his 7,000-word speech, one into English, the other into French. When the interpreters finished, assembly President Paul-Henry Spaak of Belgium asked if there was any more business before he adjourned the session. The hall was already largely empty.

Molotov sprang suddenly to his feet and said: "the Soviet delegation calls on the other delegations to express their views on disarmament."

The other delegations were caught off-guard, but Philip Noel-Baker, Britain's graying, slightly stooped chief delegate promptly rose and objected that there was neither time nor preparation for such a debate. Molotov insisted but was overruled by Spaak.

* * *

Russia No. 1 Plank.

His insistence on the point, however, left no doubt that pushing the disarmament plan would almost certainly be Russia's primary concern during the remainder of this session. The four points of his plan are:

1. The general assembly should declare that it considers a "general reduction of armaments necessary."
2. It should particularly call for "banning the manufacture and use of atomic energy for military purposes." This would put the United Nations on record as demanding that the United States stop making atomic bombs.
3. The assembly should call on the security council to carry out those two objectives.
4. The assembly should also call on all member governments to cooperate in the arms reduction and atomic bomb ban projects.

* * *

Other Major Points.

But the armaments plan occupied only a small portion of Molotov's 7,000-word text and in the rest he made these major points bearing on Russia's attiude toward the United Nations, its past work and its current debates:

VETO—Success of the campaign to abolish it "would mean in practice the liquidation of the United Nations organization because this principle (that the great powers must be unanimous in the security council) is the cornerstone of the organization."

ATOMIC CONTROL — The American plan by which the United States would give up the bomb only after international safeguards are established has a "certain degree of selfishness" and is "based on the desire to secure for the United States monopolist possession of the atomic bomb."

TROOPS ABROAD—The presence of troops in other than former enemy countries (as in China and Greece) "gives rise to serious uneasiness among the people and world public opinion."

SECURITY COUNCIL—Its refusal to act against Franco Spain was a "gross error which is bound to undermine its prestige" and its refusal to dismiss finally the Iranian case against Russia displayed "an unwarranted but openly unfavorable attitude toward the USSR."

UNITED NATIONS OUTLOOK—Existing shortcomings in the U.N. should be exposed "to see to it that they do not occur in the future.' United Nations action on the veto and disarmament proposals and the way in which it handles the conflict between the Soviet Union and the western "imperialists" will provide a measure of its ability to succeed.

JUDGES FREE GALION MAN

Ellsworth Moyer, 32-year-old Galion father, was acquitted of rape without consent of a 12-year-old girl by a panel of three common pleas judges late yesterday.

Judges G. E. Kalbfleisch, of Richland county, E. H. Savord, of Erie county, and Meade C. Robinson, of Logan county, deliberated for nearly two hours before returning their verdict at 6:50 p. m.

Moyer, in pleading innocent to the indictment, had maintained that he was being "framed" by the girl and her sister who held "grudges" against him.

In their opinion, the judges said they could not find Moyer guilty of a lesser charge—rape with consent—because of a supreme court decision against such procedure.

Tear Gas, Foam Smother Rioting

DENVER—(INS)—Tear gas and sprays of foamite, used to smother fires, averted a threatened riot at Lowry Field in Denver, military officials reported today.

Prompt action by military police was credited with breaking up a threatening mob of soldiers last night, and all personnel finally returned to their barracks.

FENSCH TALKS TO CO-OP CLUB

Co-operative club members and guests last night head a report by Dr. Edwin A. Fensh, director of research in Mansfild schools, on how the subject of pplied psychology is approachd by the school psychologists.

Addressing the clubat a dinner at the Mansfield-Lelan hotel, Dr. Fensch pointed out hothe "guidance department of the Mansfield schools had grown fromtwo workers to its present staffof five.

He then gave several case histories, pointing out how "practical psychology was utilized to discover both physical and mental tendencies toward retardation of a pupil which, quickly corrected, restored the pupil to his normal relations in school.

Stressing that eachcase must be treated individually, Fensch said that he told his students in psychology at Ashland college "You can read all about the case, but the only way to learn is to get out and do the work and thus discover that every case has to be treated on its own merits."

Summing up the purpose of the guidance department, Fensch said, "We are not just teaching the three R's. We are making citizens. We are building individuals, not just turning out diplomas. We want a democracy made up of people who can make decisions, solve some of the problems we have failed to solve, and exercise their right to vote intelligently."

Secretary Profits By Banker's Tips

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A woman who worked 23 years as a banker's secretary amassed a modest fortune estimated at $150,000 through investment tips from her employer, probate court records showed today.

She was Miss Winifred E. Treat, who died Oct 13, at her East Cleveland home at the age of 80. Her will, filed for probate yesterday, named 51 legatees—none of them immediate relatives.

There is Plenty of Natural Gas to you this Winter in Suffes

Today, it is as hard to get steel pipe as it is to get automobiles and houses.

Like coal, sugar, housing and many other necessities, gas is in short supply now and will remain so until construction material to build the planned pipelines, compressor stations, storage and distribution plants becomes available.

Anticipating heavy consumption, The Columbia Gas System began in 1945 a $50,000,000 construction program to increase our capacity to serve you.

Despite our utmost efforts, shortages of steel and other necessary items have made it impossible for us to complete the enlargements planned.

There is enough gas at the source!* But the same economic maladjustment that prevents you from getting the goods you want, prevents our principal suppliers from building the facilities and delivering to The Columbia Gas System an adequate supply of gas from the vast gas reserves in Texas.

The Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, of which THE OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY is a subsidiary, operates 32,629 miles of transmission and distribution lines. It owns in excess of 9,000 producing gas wells and purchases the entire output of approximately 6,500 wells owned by independent producers. In addition, it is now taking into its transmission and distribution systems 160,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day from Texas through the long distance pipelines of its principal suppliers. Further, we have now placed in un which cubic. Howe prece as 12 day—i for ho So, in modit its gas suppl

his 7,000-word speech, one into English, the other into French. When the interpreters finished, assembly President Paul-Henry Spaak of Belgium asked if there was any more business before he adjourned the session. The hall was already largely empty.

Molotov sprang suddenly to his feet and said: "the Soviet delegation calls on the other delegations to express their views on disarmament."

The other delegations were caught off-guard, but Philip Noel-Baker, Britain's graying, slightly stooped chief delegate promptly rose and objected that there was neither time nor preparation for such a debate. Molotov insisted but was overruled by Spaak.

* * *

Russia No. 1 Plank.

1. The general assembly should declare that it considers a "general reduction of armaments necessary."
2. It should particularly call for "banning the manufacture and use of atomic energy for military purposes." This would put the United Nations on record as demanding that the United States stop making atomic bombs.
3. The assembly should call on the security council to carry out those two objectives.
4. The assembly should also call on all member governments to cooperate in the arms reduction and atomic bomb ban projects.

* * *

Other Major Points.

But the armaments plan occupied only a small portion of Molotov's 7,000-word text and in the rest he made these major points bearing on Russia's attude toward the United Nations, its past work and its current debates:

VETO—Success of the campaign to abolish it "would mean in practice the liquidation of the United Nations organization because this principle (that the great powers must be unanimous in the security council) is the cornerstone of the organization."

ATOMIC CONTROL — The American plan by which the United States would give up the bomb only after international safeguards are established has a "certain degree of selfishness" and is "based on the desire to secure for the United States monopolist possession of the atomic bomb."

TROOPS ABROAD—The presence of troops in other than former enemy countries (as in China and Greece) "gives rise to serious uneasiness among the people and world public opinion."

SECURITY COUNCIL—Its refusal to act against Franco Spain was a "gross error which is bound to undermine its prestige" and its refusal to dismiss finally the Iranian case against Russia displayed "an unwarranted but openly unfavorable attitude toward the USSR."

UNITED NATIONS OUTLOOK—Existing shortcomings in the U.N. should be exposed "to see to it that they do not occur in the future.' United Nations action on the veto and disarmament proposals and the way in which it handles the conflict between the Soviet Union and the western "imperialists" will provide a measure of its ability to succeed.

JUDGES FREE GALION MAN

Ellsworth Moyer, 32-year-old Galion father, was acquitted of rape without consent of a 12-year-old girl by a panel of three common pleas judges late yesterday.

Judges G. E. Kalbfleisch, of Richland county, E. H. Savord, of Erie county, and Meade C. Robinson, of Logan county, deliberated for nearly two hours before returning their verdict at 6:30 p. m.

Moyer, in pleading innocent to the indictment, had maintained that he was being "framed" by the girl and her sister who held "grudges" against him.

In their opinion, the judges said they could not find Moyer guilty of a lesser charge—rape with consent—because of a supreme court decision against such procedure.

FENSCH TALKS TO CO-OP CLUB

Co-operative club members and guests last night heard a report by Dr. Edwin A. Fensch, director of research in Mansfield schools, on how the subject of applied psychology is approached by the school psychologists.

Addressing the club at a dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Dr. Fensch pointed out how the "guidance department of the Mansfield schools had grown from two workers to its present staff of five.

He then gave several case histories, pointing out how "practical psychology" was utilized to discover both physical and mental tendencies toward retardation of a pupil which, quickly corrected, restored the pupil to his normal relations in school.

Stressing that each case must be treated individually, Fensch said that he told his students in psychology at Ashland college "You can read all about the case, but the only way to learn is to get out and do the work and thus discover that every case has to be treated on its own merits."

Summing up the purpose of the guidance department, Fensch said, "We are not just teaching the three R's. We are making citizens. We are building individuals, not just turning out diplomas. We want a democracy made up of people who can make decisions, solve some of the problems we have failed to solve, and exercise their right to vote intelligently."

There is Plenty of Natural Gas to you this Winter in Suf

Today, it is as hard to get steel pipe as it is to get automobiles and houses.

Like coal, sugar, housing and many other necessities, gas is in short supply now and will remain so until construction material to build the planned pipelines, compressor stations, storage and distribution plants becomes available.

Anticipating heavy consumption, The Columbia Gas System began in 1945 a $50,000,000 construction program to increase our capacity to serve you.

Despite our utmost efforts, shortages of steel and other necessary items have made it impossible for us to complete the enlargements planned.

There is enough gas at the source! But the same economic maladjustment that prevents you from getting the goods you want, prevents our principal suppliers from building the facilities and delivering to The Columbia Gas System an adequate supply of gas from the vast gas reserves in Texas.

The Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, of which THE OHIO FUEL GAS COMPANY is a subsidiary, operates 32,629 miles of transmission and distribution lines. It owns in excess of 9,000 producing gas wells and purchases the entire output of approximately 6,500 wells owned by independent producers. In addition, it is now taking into its transmission and distribution systems 160,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day from Texas through the long distance pipelines of its principal suppliers. Lewis Demands Coal Be Weighed Before Washing, Not Afterward

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It was heralded in the headlines last weekend that the chief subject of discussion by the cabinet was the threatened coal strike. This, however, was not the case.

Actually, President Truman gave the impending coal strike only a few brief seconds. He opened the cabinet session by stating that, since Secretary of the Interior Krug was absent from the city, the subject of coal would be taken up at another time.

Meanwhile, government lawyers are at odds over the interpretation of the contract John L. Lewis signed with the interior department last spring.

Attorneys for the labor and justice departments are privately critical of interior department lawyers. They say the coal contract is loosely worded and full of loopholes.

However, Assistant Secretary of the Interior Warner Gardner, who helped draw up the contract, claims that under its terms Lewis has no right whatsoever to call a strike. He says privately that Lewis is merely looking for a chance to cause embarrassment on the eve of elections. The contract provides for discussion between Lewis and the government of technical matters only, not wages and hours.

The technical matters Lewis has thrown into the government's face are, first, that the coal is weighed at the tipple after it is washed, not in coal cars before washing. Washing at the tipple means that the ash and rock is sorted out so the coal weighs 4 per cent less. This, Lewis claims, reduces the miners' welfare fund of 5 cents per ton.

In a scant five months, however, the welfare fund has already reached $7,000,000, and the United Mine Workers are so wealthy that they have purchased one of the largest office buildings in Washington, in addition to buying the swank University club as oak-paneled headquarters for John L. Lewis.

Grievance No. 2 against the government is failure to give miners allowance for vacation pay when they leave the job before the end of the year. Here, however, Krug has already accepted an award in Illinois in favor of the miners. Thus, only one issue, washing coal at the tipple, remains to be settled.

For this, John L. Lewis threatens to close down the entire coal industry.

Note—Real fact is that Lewis has always wanted to negotiate a contract in November, on the eve of cold weather, rather than in the spring, on the eve of warm weather. Obviously his negotiating powers are much greater when people face shivering homes. Also, he is not averse to stirring up a little industrial uncertainty just before elections.

Averell Harriman's Baby.

He would like very much to forget it, but Averell Harriman, well-meaning new secretary of commerce, has found a troublesome problem child on his doorstep. Though head of Union Pacific railroad and director of the Illinois Central, Harriman, as secretary of commerce, now has to help pass on the ticklish question of raising railroad rates.

The problem child was found on Harriman's door-step when he first took office. The man who put it there was Acting Secretary Al Schindler, who had to give the interstate commerce commission the commerce department's views on railroad rates.

High railroad officials, conferring with Schindler in a secret meeting, told him they had been promised a rate increase by the White House. Accordingly, they asked a 25 per cent raise.

Commerce department transportation experts, on the other hand, advised Schindler that: the rails will handle 54,000,000,000 fewer ton-miles in 1947 than in 1942, and 6,000,000,000 fewer passenger-miles. Despite this, they will employ 107,000 more people.

Schindler's net reaction: if anyone came to me with a proposal that they hire more people to handle less business, I'd fire them right away.

Whereupon he signed a statement putting the commerce department on record against the 25 per cent increase.

This was the commerce department's official position when railroad magnate Harriman took over his new job, and so far he has not officially changed it.

Private Railroad Ally.

Even though Harriman can't go to bat for the rails, however, they have a stalwart ally in the cabinet—John Snyder. When Snyder was reconversion director, railroad men say he promised that, if they would give labor a wage boost, they in turn would get a rate boost. This was never publicly admitted, but it was why railroad executives informed Schindler they had a private commitment from the White House.

Though they are both from Missouri, Snyder forgot to pass this word on to Schindler, and now it's going to be difficult for new Secretary of Commerce "Rail Czar" Harriman to reverse him.

Bold — When Harriman was asked by the press whether he believed in enforcing the Anti-Trust Act, he declined comment. One of the justice department's biggest anti-trust cases is against Harriman's Union Pacific; but, even so, it is unusual for a cabinet officer to refuse support for a law which is on the statute books and which is a vigorous policy of the administration of which he is a member.

Admission of European Refugees To Palestine Is Disturbing Issue

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

IF YOU were the British government, what response would you make to the demand that 100,000 European Jewish refugees be admitted to Palestine forthwith?

That's not an easy question to answer, is it—looking at it from the standpoint of say Prime Minister Attlee? I dare say John Bull would give a handsome reward to the one who could supply him with what he regarded as a satisfactory solution.

John is in an unhappy position. He's going to be damned if he does. And damned if he doesn't. On the one hand he has President Truman urging that Britain carry out the recommendations of the Anglo-American commission on Palestine that at least 100,000 Jews be allowed to enter the Holy Land immediately. On the other are King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, and other Arab leaders, who are battling Jewish immigration.

There even have been threats from influential Arabian quarters that if Britain throws Palestine open to immigration, the Arab population of the Middle East will turn to Russia for support—this being a threat to England's influence in that strategic area.

One of the first points we encounter in examining this troublesome problem is what relation, if any, there is between the immigration of a hundred thousand Jews and the establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine.

We must admit immediately that the creation of a Jewish state will tax the skill of the world's sages. However, broadly speaking, it would seem that the matter of the Jewish state and this limited immigration aren't strongly related.

Some experienced observers feel that the addition of this number of Jews to the population wouldn't have any material effect on the bigger issue. If we were talking about half a million immigrants, it would be different.

Apart from the political aspect, 100,000 refugees wouldn't place a burden on the present Jewish-Arab population of the Holy Land—not with the help which they would receive from England and America. Then too we must remember that these distressed folk are homeless and want to be with their own people—a very natural desire.

I know how they feel about that, because I talked with many of them in Germany early this year. They all wanted to go to Palestine because it meant "home" to them. Consideration must be given to that plea.

Now it would be worse than foolish to think that the Arabs don't mean business in their insistence that they have their place in the Palestine sun. They are a brave people and if it should come to a show-down they are quite capable of fighting for that place. And just so would the Jews.

However, having spent considerable time in the Middle East during the past thirty years, one takes the liberty of doubting whether the Arabs would resort to arms, or yet call on Moscow for support, over the matter of further Jewish immigration which was guaranteed to be moderate pending adjustment of the whole situation. There always is danger of racial rioting in that part of the world, but organized war is another thing.

Naturally it is essential that Britain retain the good-will of the widespread Arab populations. However, John Bull equally needs the friendship of the great and powerful bodies of Jewish citizens in England, America and other countries.

So, looking at the thing from all sides, one wonders that John doesn't feel impelled to make the gamble of opening the doors to these 100,00 displaced persons.

The odds are that he could make this handsome gesture to a needy people without creating fresh hazards for himself. There are times when we must take chances, and this would seem to be one of them.

Republicans Are Making Vague Promises.

WASHINGTON — Since it appears the Republicans are going to win the house, perhaps the senate, in the forthcoming election, it is only natural that many people are asking:

"What is the party going to do with its responsibility? What is its program?

The only person who has tried to answer that is Rep. Joe Martin (Mass.), Republican house leader. He's a proper spokesman because he'll be speaker if Republicans capture the house.

But he replied vaguely on some points in his recent speech at Providence. He overlooked a lot of others.

According to Joe, Republicans are going to do something about "the sprawling, overgrown bureaucracy." They also are going to do something about the little woman in the kitchen and the businessman by taking, as Joe puts it, "the meddling hand of the subversionists and petty, political despots out of the kitchens of America; out of the farm homes of America; out of the grocery stores; the filling stations; the factories and the mills, large and small."

They are going to stop all those questionnaires and "don'ts" that have bedeviled people. They are going to do something to "restore under absolute fairness harmony between labor and management." They are going to cut taxes. They plan to balance the budget.

Also, they are going to see how the alphabetical agencies can be reduced and are going "to study the extra-governmental functions which the administration has wrested from the states, the counties and the citizen and find out how many of them immediately can be returned to the people with a consequent great saving to the taxpayer."

Said Joe: "We have no intention of curtailing any necessary activities, but we do intend most decisively and quickly to curtail unnecessary and wasteful activities."

Now all that last is important. Joe is very vague. It would help if he would be more specific between now and Nov. 5.

It is easy enough, for example, to talk glibly about the "alphabetical agencies." They have been good for a crack from the stump for a long time. But some alphabetical agencies have been most helpful in protecting the public interest in many ways and the people know that.

What alphabetical agencies, Joe?

It's easy enough, too, to talk about handing things back to the states. The federal government took over some functions essential to the public welfare—and by act of congress—because states neglected them.

What would go back to the states, Joe?

And "unnecessary activities"? What does that mean? Joe knows, and those of us who have covered congress for years know, that it's easy to kill useful functions by dubbing them "unnecessary activities." It's easier still to kill them in the name of "economy" by withholding appropriations and starving them out.

Joe has called together for the last two weeks in November the numerous special committees of Republicans which have been studying national problems for the last two years. Their reports will be laid before all Republican members-elect in conferences in December so that a party program can be formulated for congress' opening in January.

The big question is:

"Is the Republican party going to remain static?"

Say it isn't so, Joe.

Small Step Toward Harmony Welcomed.

NEW YORK—The sudden and unexpected decision by Soviet Russia to yield to the majority on the issue of allowing the assembly to discuss the veto has sent a current of hope through the United Nations organization. That may be merely a reflection of the state of despair to which the world has sunk, but it is a reality none the less.

Men who have for months been coming up against the stone wall of stubborn Russian resistance to every proposal from the west were amazed.

Wanting to believe that it represents the beginning of a new attitude, they are still afraid that this may be merely another mirage in what has been an empty and sterile desert.

Those who sat through the ordeal of the Paris peace conference think back to a dramatic clash that came at the end of the conference. The United States delegation moved that the Finnish reparation bill be scaled down.

This was the signal for a torrent of abuse from Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, the Ukranian foreign minister who is a convenient understudy for Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov. Manuilsky wrapped up everything that had been said before about American imperialism and interference and hurled it all at the American delegates.

The resolute policy of Secretary of State Byrnes up to this point had been to ignore all such attacks. But the senior representative of the United States present at that session, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, could not let it pass. In three pointed sentences Vandenberg rejected the charges and reasserted America's disinterested position.

The effect was electrifying. For several minutes, representatives of most nations present cheered and applauded. Sitting silent in the face of this demonstration were the members of the Slav bloc.

The meaning of the demonstration was inescapable. The Russians had alienated opinion throughout the world. The outburst of cheering and applause spoke the fears and hopes of those who see the machinations of the USSR grinding down all of Europe.

Against the background the changed attitude has come. This, at any rate, is the interpretation of the men who have shaped the Byrnes-Vandenberg foreign policy line. They see the change as proof that a firm, steady line will in the end produce results. They are more convinced than ever that anything less than that will further the opposite of co-operation.

Former Senator Warren R. Austin of Vermont, head of the U. S. delegation at the assembly meeting, moved quickly to welcome the precedent of harmony that appeared to be established by the Russian action.

By his stand he reversed the stupid position taken by the United States last spring, when the U. S. voted against a Soviet proposal which would have authorized a report on Allied troops stationed in non-enemy countries. The vote of this country's delegation at that time was against even permitting the security council to consider the Russian proposal.

The triumph for harmony is, of course, a very small one. Measured against the separatism that divides the nations, it has a pathetic look.

It does not mean that the big powers are any less determined to keep the veto as an instrument to protect their sovereignty. It merely means that the assembly has won the right to debate the question.

The smaller nations will have the opportunity to protect against their role, which seems to be merely one of "me, too." And those who take hope from what has happened believe it may be a precedent.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Oct. 30, 1926.

All-day drizzle wound up October as wettest month of the year and slippery pavements caused several traffic crashes.

Miss Gertrude Mary Keefe and George Herbert Fox were married in St. Peter's rectory by Rev. Fr. R. C. Goebel.

Coleman Todd moved from 125 West First street to South Diamond street.

Capt. Charles Seeburger, of the fire department, was elected vice president of the department's pension board.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On October 30, 1864, Austria, Denmark and Prussia signed the treaty of Vienna. Under its terms Denmark gave up to Prussia and Austria the duchies of Schleswig, Holstein, and Lauenburg.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"Your office is full of people, Senator . . . In your speech last night you mentioned being born in a log cabin . . . They want to rent it!"

According to a postoffice department official, "Every month thousands of people put mail in street corner trash cans, thinking they are mail boxes"—but they can't do that in Mansfield . . . the best they can do here is to try to mail a letter in a fire alarm box.

That's an intriguing sign, reported to have been seen on a Louisiana chicken coop: "Anybody found around here at night will be found around here in the morning."

When today's novelists want to depict a prince of finance, they describe him as driving a 1946 car of the one of the more expensive makes.

Claude Callan has noticed: "Some people are so queer that they will work just as hard for a good cause as the rest of us will work for spite."

Calvin A. Byers

Farmer's Diary: "Monument and Legacy."

AN AGING man planted 15 acres of his roughest 100 to pine and spruce seedlings. The task took three years of labor, in off seasons. The neighbors saw the old man puttering among the rocks and one said, banteringly, "Guess you're preparing for your second childhood!"

"There used to be a spring here, when I was a kid," the old man said. "I aim to bring it back for my great grandchildren . . . if only I had some. I have no sons and daughters to carry on in the future." He straightened up his old bent form and spread his arms to include the whole planting of thrifty tender pine shoots with round full needles that glistened in the sun.

"I've planted pine and spruce," he said. "But in a few years those dropping needles will enrich the soil so much that nature will sail in a few seeds of maple. Squirrels and jays will bury some acorns and hickorynuts, and a big wind will blow over some locusts and poplars . . . there'll be a mixed forest, by the time these thriftiest trees are 20 feet high. Let the forest grow, and that old spring that is only a legend nowadays, will revive and come to life. The water'll gush forth like it used to years ago.

"This is my poorest field. I aim to give it to my home community for a park. It'll be my monument—for the great grandchildren I never'll have. Sometimes I seem to see it perpetuating itself for centuries and centuries — generations of trees, generations of men—and that spring gushing out! Then I'm happy."

* * *

LAST YEAR, in the sand area of Mason county, Illinois, more than 500 rural school children in 37 schools planted 41,000 new forest trees . . . five miles of windbreaks, and 24 acres of solid planting on drifting sands that are not profitable for farming. Every child, regardless of age, was given a chance to plant trees. They worked in groups . . . many made a picnic of it.

Now these children will grow with the trees. They will see the small seedlings develop and keep the wind from blowing sand onto the farming lands. Similar trees planted six years ago are now seven to eight feet high.

Timely Editorial

Just One of the Boys.

For something he said about Yalta in a radio interview, Senator Vandenberg is called a "liar" and "betrayer of the people of the United States," by Elliott Roosevelt, whose only claim to public notice is that he is the son of his father. Son Elliott goes on to say that Senator Vandenberg "cannot keep foreign policy from being an issue in this campaign."

Some years back, when the younger Theodore Roosevelt projected himself into politics, for which he had no particular aptitude, however brave he proved himself as a soldier, an Ohio editor took to referring to him as t. r., as distinguished from T. R., his sire. It would be well, perhaps, when next he discusses Mr. Vandenberg or predicts, as he did the other day, that bread would go to $15 a loaf, if it were indicated that is elliott, one of the lowercase roosevelts, who is talking.—Detroit News.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, October 31.

Exceptional opportunities for the inauguration of ideas and plans of first magnitude, on this day, depend upon the sagacity, sound principles, good judgment with well-studied and tested preparation and tactics. There may be a proclivity or incentive for careless, slipshod, impractical or hasty decisions, or expediency, and this is liable to undermine sound work and worth-while support. For high-powered crises and enduring returns keep sound judgment to the fore in arriving at conclusions

Those whose birthday it is can count upon a year in which their individual acumen, principles, sagacity and enterprise should combine to promote exceptional success, high accomplishment and pleasant as well as profitable culminations for work sanely, practically and aggressively pursued.

There being undercurrents tricky, confused and involved, especially as to mental slants and emotional urges, it would be well to pause and give profound analysis and tested tactics before coming to conclusions. Slipshod moves or inflated ideas might imperil support from those in influential places whose financial aid is imperative.

A child born on this day although being capable and adventurous, may be disposed to be superficial, careless and given to expediency. Also subject to slipshod or inflationary ideas.

Sewing machines should be oiled every 5 or 6 hours of use.

Dorothy Kilgallen—

Gossip In Gotham — Victor Moore is bedded with a bronchial ailment . . . Friends wouldn't lift an eyebrow if Lois Andrews staged an elopement with actor Edmond O'Brien. (He'd be her third, she his second) . . . The Jacobs Beach rumor is that Max Schmeling will hire a public relations firm to ease the way for his arrival in this country . . . Susan Peters, the gamest girl in Hollywood will do personal appearances. She's the screen lovely who was so badly injured by a rifle accident . . . Clark Gable has changed his mind and will play the lead in the controversial novel "The Hucksters" . . . Eddy Duchin has an urge to go dramatic. Friends say Ilka Chase will be plus one new hook as well as minus one old husband when she leaves Reno. . . . A Broadway press agent is livid with Bess ("Miss America") Meyerson. He had a date with her Saturday night — the night of her elopement. And it wasn't the elopement that irked him—but the fact that she didn't even give him the scoop so he could phone a columnist!

Happy-happy note for girls: the inflation merry-go-round has broken down in the mink and Hudson seal markets. Prices are going down, and some fur industry biggies predict that by next June they'll be way way below the early October, 1946 rates . . . Have a laugh: a vice president of the A. The scuttlebutt is that the famous screen star wife of an equally famous musician will marry a famous crooner (not Sinatra) as soon as the crooner's wife gets a divorce

Car Makers Planning '47 Program

LITTLE CHANCE OF PRODUCTION SPEEDUP SEEN

Wage, Supply Uncertainties Continue to Plague Entire Industry.

By DAVID J. WILKIE
(AP Automotive Editor)

DETROIT —Automobile manufacturers have begun planning their production programs for the first quarter of 1947 and from what can be learned about the scheduling it appears no marked upturn in volume over the average of the last few months is anticipated.

Through most of the current year the car makers over-estimated their production probabilities; several times they had to cut back their schedules. They laid out heavy schedules for the car body manufacturers, scarcity of steel hampered production in the body plants.

At the same time some of the components were in liberal supply Generally the car makers could not afford to turn these back and the result was a highly unbalanced inventory of raw materials parts and equipment in just about every assembly plant.

As many uncertainties lie ahead of the car makers today as they have faced at any time since post-war operations began 16 months ago. They have no assurance that a normal float" of supplies can be re-established in the next five or six months, they do not know what their raw materials will cost or what their hourly wage rates will be Without even an approximate idea of what overall production costs will be they are unable to even guess whether they can avoid another increase in retail prices

Another uncertainty . . . and a vital one in all the industry's planning . . is the exact extent to which continuing high retail prices will affect consumer demand Some of the sales chiefs scoff at the suggestion that increased prices already have eliminated several million would-be buyers from the backlog that accumulated during the war

Others assert bluntly that the present demand for cars-at any price will run out by next summer and that the retailing division will have to exert a lot of real sales effort to keep cars moving

Those who hold to this latter belief point out that the low-priced car as the motoring public knew it before the war has ceased to exist In its place, they add, is a medium-priced vehicle beyond the reach of many thousands of would-be car owners It will require a greatly sharpened selling technique, according to some of the sales executives, to dissuade other thousands from postponing their new car purchases indefinitely

This reasoning may appear logical on its face but it is an extreme viewpoint and it comes from sales executives who, eager to increase long range demand for their own cars, may be looking further ahead than next summer.

The most optimistic among the sales authorities declare that while they expect some cancellations to result from higher prices thus far there have been more new orders than cancellations The production of approximately 1,600,000 passenger cars to date they insist has not even dented the huge backlog of demand that piled up during nearly four years in which not a single civilian passenger vehicle was assembled

The planners of a revival of an hit, says Oscar Hammerstein, 2nd, must not only match the splendor of the original production but the enhanced glamor of memory, as well

Hammerstein found that out when he revived "Show Boat" twenty years after Edna Ferber, Jerome Kern, and he first handed the script to Flo Ziegfeld Old-timers shook their heads and said, "You'll never get scenery like the Old Master's ' or "How can you hope to find anybody half as good as Charlie Winninger, Helen Morgan, and Edna May Oliver?"

This reminded Oscar of the time Diaghileff revived the ballet "Scheherazade" A friend demanded 'Are you using the original Baskst designs?' "Yes" he answered 'but in much brighter colors 'Why? asked the friend 'Because said Diaghileff 'that's the way people remember them"

CAUTION FAILS THIS MERCHANT

A Mansfield clothier did just about everything he could—even to calling the bank—to prevent being fleeced by a bogus check-passer—but the sharpster still walked off with $47 in clothing

Aaron Goldsmith, proprietor of Goldsmith's Clothing and Furnishings, told police yesterday that the bad check artist was wearing a sailor hat and pants and said he was in the Merchant Marine

When the "sailor" showed credentials and pictures to "prove" that he was 'R. C Allen" of the Merchant Marine, Goldsmith said he sold him a $20 60 leather jacket "Allen" said his regulation jacket was stolen

Later on Monday, Allen came into the store again and tendered a $16 40 check for a sport shirt and tie, Goldsmith told police

Allen produced a check book showing that he had $400 on deposit with a bank in Columbia City, Ind. A call to the bank verified that R. C. Allen had a $400 account there, Goldsmith said. The bank's description of Allen even tallied with that of the man in Goldsmith's store

So Goldsmith let the shirt and tie go and accepted the second check Yesterday came the bad news from the bank "Allen's" checks were returned marked 'no account," Goldsmith told officers

Teachers With 4 Years of Specialized Training Start In the Mansfield Schools AT ONLY $1300 A YEAR

An Apple For the Teacher Is NOT Enough!

"An apple for the teacher" has long been an expression of admiration, but teachers cannot live on apples and admiration alone. As things now stand in Mansfield Schools, a new teacher with an investment of four years of specialized training, earns only $1300 a year. AFTER 15 LONG YEARS, THE SAME TEACHER CAN EXPECT TO EARN ONLY $2300. To remedy this condition, a proposal to increase teachers' salaries will appear on the Nov. 5th ballot. It is a modest increase —raising the minimum starting pay from $1300 to $1800, and the maximum (for a teacher with a Master's degree) from $2500 to $3000. Passage of this levy will insure a more livable income for our teachers . . . and will prove a worthwhile investment in the proper education of our children.

ATTENTION, MR. AND MRS. UNITED STATES!

IN 1932, the American people needed a New Deal . . . In 1946 they need a Square Deal . . . As Jefferson's administration was magnificent; as Jackson's administration was advanced; as Lincoln's administration was noble, and as F. D. R.'s administration was exalted, the present Truman administration is ridiculous.

Its latest scandal is the discharge of O. John Rogge, the assistant prosecutor of the accused seditionists . . . The reason for the dismissal is not that Rogge misstated the facts—but that he made them public . . . Just whose Department of Justice is it? . . . Does it belong to the American people—to whom Rogge told the truth—or to some slimy Senators who are so much more effective on a telephone than an honest prosecutor is permitted to be before an American jury? The Department of Justice was never more misnamed.

Mr. Clark: Just who is holding the secret of why the Department of justice is not acting in the case of Senator Bilbo? . . . Senator Mead, a Democratic Senator, reports that Bilbo received money for war contracts . . . Who is wrong? Democratic Attorney General Clark, Democratic Senator Bilbo or Democratic Senator Mead? . . . Or will the whole question raised by Senator Mead be dropped if the Democrats win? . . . Has the administration of American justice dropped to the level of a political party squabble?

Mr. Clark, for what comfort there is in it, your demoralized Department of Justice is a model of regularity compared to the conflicting statements issued by the White House and the State Department. Thus, on October 4 Secretary Byrnes warned that certain policies by nations might lead to war . . . Last week President Truman flatly contradicted him by saying that fear of war was unjustified and unwarranted—and that the United States had no imperialistic aims . . . Assistant Secretary Clayton then contradicted the President by stating (last Friday) that the American government would protect certain American investments abroad.

* * *

OUT OF THIS welter of confusion and contradictions one thing stands out: The American people are to be congratulated on the approach of the November 5th election, national housecleaning day.

In the meantime this reporter believes that the solution of the sedition case is not the dismissal of O. John Rogge but the investigation of Att'y Gen'l Tom Clark and his SO-CALLED Dep't of Justice!

This reporter believes Communists should be exposed . . . Bnt after their subversive activities are spotlighted—then what? . . . Will they go to the gallows like Schacht? . . . Will they be brought to trial like the alleged seditionists? . . . Will they be punished by allowing them to win elections like Bilbo and Rankin? . . . Will justice be upheld by pigeon-holing the trial of an alleged traitor such as Constance Drexel? . . . Will the U. S. Supreme Court (and other courts) show the power of the law by allowing them to crawl through legal loopholes like Bundists or the Gerald L. K. Smiths? . . . Will they be punished like indicted traitor Ezra Pound, who escaped trial by pleading insanity? . . . Will justice triumph as in the case of John L. Lewis, who reportedly aided Nazi agents and now has the power to paralyze the nation with strikes?

Pegler Fair Enough

NEW YORK—The New York apartment of Leo Durocher, the manager of the Brooklyn ball club, includes a terrace and a bar, decorated in baseball decor, if that word means what I hope it means. The rent is $175 a month. Durocher got more than $40,000 but less than $60,000, for the 1946 season, say $50,000. But taxes are high, and he lives expensively, runs with gamblers and plays gin rummy for a nickel a point.

The apartment is close by the Sherry-Netherlands hotel where, on the night of March 24, 1944, George Raft gave a dinner party which presently drifted over to Durocher's place.

Durocher was not in the party, but he had given the key to his friend, Raft, who frankly associates with notorious underworld personalities, and the company soon organized a crap game. Several of those present had adopted aliases.

* * *

MARTIN SHURIN, the chump of the evening, a young man with illusions about celebrities, particularly movie actors is disenchanted now. He lost $18.500 to Raft in a few minutes and, in the ensuing notoriety, shot off his mouth, perhaps untruthfully, about his earnings as a sub-contractor in the war business of supplying airplane parts. He may have exaggerated. At any rate, he drew the attention of the FBI and was indicted in Greensboro, N. C., where he had sold bedspreads before the war, on a charge that he deceived his draft board in obtaining deferment as manager of a firm producing war material.

Durocher's choice of companions has been a matter of deep concern to Branch Rickey, the business manager of the Dodgers. The old practice of "whispering out" players and even managers "for the good of the game" could be revived. By this means, until Judge Landis became the "czar" after the fake world series of 1919, which was framed by underworld gamblers, men were eliminated on the mere ground that they were "agitators" or "trouble-makers." Nobody offered the marked man a contract and he just vanished.

* * *

THERE IS PRECEDENT for regulation of both the social habits and the associations of players and managers. They have been induced to shun certain restaurants frequented by gamblers and racketeers and to snub disreputable individuals in all circumstances. Umpires, who since the beginning of the century have given absolutely no scandal, are suspicious of all strangers, live and travel apart from the ball clubs and pick their friends carefully

If the moving picture business knows that one of its stars prefers the underworld and doesn't care, that is one matter. For a time, and for a profit, Hollywood joined the newspapers and the Department of Justice in discrediting the Adonises and little Augies, friends of George Raft. All that time, however, Hollywood was developing an underworld of her own, as evil and bold as the prohibition and union rackets, and without repudiation by the industry. But baseball is in a different position. Every day it appeals to the public for confidence and support. It has asked and received official recognition as a precious public trust. Nobody would bet on the outcome of a picture, but a few killings on fixed ball-games would degrade something that the public, perhaps without realizing as much, has come to regard as an American ideal or treasure.

The moral "climate" of Durocher's circle and Raft's is ominously, similar to that in which the corruption of 1919 occurred.

Othman On Anything

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Phil Bailis, the Philadelphia junk-dealer, wanted to buy some scrap iron from the government, so he had a rheostatic copy made of the list and . . .

"A what kind of copy," demanded Emanuel Eschwege, assistant counsel for the house committee investigating surplus property disposal by the war assets administration.

"A rheostatic copy," repeated the portly Bailis, beginning to perspire.

"You mean a photostatic copy?" insisted Eschwege.

"I guess so," replied the junk man. And so began one of those afternoons I wouldn't believe, myself, if I hadn't been there.

Bailis, in rumpled shirt and thick-lensed eyeglasses, said he and his brothers, Sam and Louis, paid $27,000 for government junk, which they bought mostly sight unseen at $16.59 a ton. They guaranteed they'd sell it as scrap.

They did, too. They sold it for $17 a ton to a pal of their's another junkman, name of Louis Brown.

Brown had to testify, too. He was smoothly dressed in a striped flannel suit; smoothly he answered the queries of Rep. Roger Slaughter of Missouri.

He WENT OUT to inspect the junk in the first place. Mostly it was ancient machinery. One consignment, he said, was lined up in a tarpaulin-covered pile 900 feet long. He didn't crawl under the tarpaulin.

"It was a cold day," he said. "And there was snow on the ground.

So he let his friend, Bailis, buy it. Then he bought it from Bailis.

"You must have changed your mind about its value," interrupted Rep. Charles R. Robertson of N.D.

"Oh yes sir, absolutely," Brown replied. "You bet I changed my mind. If I'd bought it from the WAA myself, I'd have had to sell it for junk. But when I bought it from another dealer, what I did with it was my own business."

Brown added that there was no use lying about it.

The stuff he bought included electric motors, 531 power units with a list price of $800 each, a few planing mills and assorted other machinery. Some was old. Some was new.

"So the government was in error in calling it scrap?" Rep. Robertson asked.

* * *

"THERE'S A LOT of fellows in the WAA who don't know the scrap business," Brown replied. "It is a complicated business. Why, you couldn't tell me today what a 10 horse power electric motor is worth. Not even if you had the catalogue, you couldn't."

Robertson said he was no electrician. Brown said that did not matter. He just wanted to point out how involved the junk business can get. He believed the WAA fellows were more to be pitied, than blamed.

Anyhow, he made a good deal. Rep. Slaughter thought maybe it was too good. How much the Philadelphia junkmen profited from the ignorance of the federal experts, the committee hopes to discover next. That is, if they can fathom the bookkeeping methods of Louis and Phil and their rheostatic copies.

FIRM ACCUSES STEEL 'AGENT' IN $1,700 FRAUD

Renie Metal Products Files Charge Against Ohian After Long Search

A man who took advantage of the steel shortage to dupe a Mansfield manufacturer out of $1,700 was in jail today, charged with obtaining money under fals pretenses.

He allegedly made off with a Renie Metal Products corporation certified check after promising to sell the firm 40 tons of steel he didn't own.

Hunted by Mansfield police for a month, James L. Weyant, 42, of Curtice, O., was traced through 14 cities in five states before he was arrested yesterday in Canton. He is in county jail and is to appear in municipal court tomorrow.

Posed As Agent.

An affidavit signed by Philip Renie, president of the metal products company, Bowmanstreet, states that Weyant represented himself as the agent of the Weyant Machinery company and said that he was purchasing steel at a West Virginia steel corporation.

At the West Virginia plant, the affidavit continues, he told the firm he had 20 tons of steel, plus another 20 at a Detroit dock.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said that a representative of the Renie company even went to the West Virginia plant and was shown the steel there by Weyant.

Bates said that Weyant obviously took advantage of the difficulty small manufacturers have in getting steel to work his defrauding scheme.

In addition to the 40 tons of steel in West Virginia and Michigan, Weyant also promised to provide an additional 500 tons.

The "sale" of the West Virginia steel was completed on condition that the Renie company purchased the other 20 tons at the Detroit dock, Bates said.

Had Few Clues.

Working with limited information, Mansfield police investigated the case in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Michigan and Illinois before Weyant was arrested.

At Celina, O. the chief said, he learned that Weyant was a "mushroom expert." He was described there as being able to "grow more mushrooms per square foot than any other man in the town"

Bates said that the trapping of Weyant is "an example of what this department can do in the way of investigating cases if it has the proper funds." He said the city has no special fund to permit the department to conduct extensive investigations. The Renie corporation provided money for the investigation.

GRANGE STAGES HOLIDAY PARTY

A Halloween party, staged last night by the young people's group of the Madison Grange, was attended by 115 persons at the Little Washington church.

Highlight of the evening was the crowning of Carlton Treese as Harvest King, and Miss Dora McClelland as Harvest Queen

Prize for the best dressed masquerader was won by Mary McFarland. Lorain Hall, Nell Hammett and Jim Fisher won prizes for the most comical costumes. The prize for the best dressed child went to Barbara Ann McFarland.

Mrs. Helen Baer took chage of the children's games and contests and Miss Norma Lee Michell served as general chairman of the party and chairman of the refreshments committee.

The next meeting of the Grange will be Nov. 7 at 8 p. m. in the basement of the Little Washington church. Election of officers will be held.

PICK DELEGATES TO SPORTS MEET

Delegates had been chosen today by Richland county sportsmen and conservationists to attend a district meeting at Norwalk, C. I. Kimmel, county game protector, said.

County representatives from northcentral Ohio will offer ideas at the Norwalk meeting on changes in the state game laws.

Kimmel said only a few attended a recent meeting in Mansfield and no one suggested changes in the laws.

J. R. Heilman was the sportsman delegate chosen to attend the district meeting while H. Fau was the farm delegate selected.

VETS STUDY PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Plans for an appropriate observance of Armistice day will be discussed by the Joint Veterans Commission of Richland county when it meets Thursday at 7:30 p.m., in the VFW hall, President M. A. Fulkerson said today.

"The celebration of Armistice Day probably will be superceded by a new national holiday that will honor the dead of both World wars," Fulkerson said. "We therefore hope that this Armistice will find veterans of World War II, marching beside those of World War I in fitting tribute to the dead of the first war."

Mansfield's $1,000,000 Clear Fork water reservoir project moved into its second phase today as engineers mapped the site of the project's purification plant and pumping station.

Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow said that "rough sketches" of the sites have been drawn by project engineers preparatory to determining permanent sites. Plans will be discussed over a period of weeks before final sites are chosen he said.

Meanwhile, the project's first phase continued to move forward as contractors prepared to move the first of thousands of tons of earth to be used in the $425,000 dam.

Once completed, the project is scheduled to triple the city's water suply.

SPEAKER TELLS OF GLASS USES

Glass, pliable enough to be woven into fabrics, or sufficiently lightweight to serve as flotation batts in life preservers, was described to 425 members and guests of the Westinghouse Foremen's club in Westinghouse auditorium last night by Edward C. Ames, public relations director of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, Toledo.

Because it possesses properties not found in other materials, fiberglas, the speaker pointed out, has been employed by skillful design engineers to improve the performance of machinery and equipment in scores of ways.

In wool form, fiberglas is used to insulate refrigerators, ranges, water heaters, and roasters manufactured by the Mansfield works of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Newly developed down-like fibers are being employed as interliners for sports jackets, boots and mittens, and as filler for mattresses and pillows.

Ben S. Wright, manager of the Cleveland branch sales office of the Fiberglas Corporation, traced the highlights in glass manufacture from the dawn of civilization to the 20th century in a brief talk that preceded Ames' remarks.

The meeting was concluded with a program by the men and girls' glee club from Newark.

R. F. Bisbee, Westinghouse quality control manager, was in charge of the meeting. J. Ward Ingraham is president of the Foremen's club.

CITES DANGER IN FALSE FIRE ALARMS

As part of a program to stamp out vandalism, Fire Chief L. J. Steele spoke to an assembly of Johnny Appleseed Junior high school students yesterday on the seriousness of turning in false fire alarms.

He warned of the penalties which can be imposed and of the needless danger to firemen and fire equipment when false alarms are sounded.

"The safety of the city itself is in danger when equipment is called out when there is no fire," he declared, adding that it costs $50 each time a fire apparatus is called out.

In a week four false alarms have been sounded, three of them from the same fire box on successive nights.

Up and Down The Street

POLE SITTER—

"Tiger," a six-month-old kitten belonging to Sonja, Bonnie and Doyle Nieman, 606 Harter avenue, went up in the world yesterday—right to the top of an electric pole at the corner of Harter and Wolfe avenues! Johnny Appleseed junior high pupils and other pedestrians heard the cries of the little cat from the top of the pole. But coaxing and "Here, Kitty," calls didn't bring him down. The little animal remained there throughout the day, crying and mewing at the passers-by. At dusk he was rescued, just as pole sitters usually are—by ladder—with a large crowd looking on. His reward was a bowl of bread and milk.

ELECTION EVE FINDS LAUSCHE FIGHTING BACK

Governor Slugging It Out With Republican Rival as End of Race Nears.

By HAROLD LISK

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Will Governor Frank J. Lausche withstand the apparent Republican trend in Ohio?

That was the big, and practically the only, question bothering politicos in Ohio's capital city today.

A week or so ago, Republican leaders were predicting that the entire Republican state ticket, including gubernatorial nominee Thomas J. Herbert, would win in a walk. They pointed to newspaper and private polls which showed surprising Herbert strength.

However, with the time now narrowed to a matter of days and hours until Mr. Ohio Citizen steps into the ballot booth, GOP leaders privately are not as confident of pulling Herbert through to victory.

Governor Lausche, the former Cleveland mayor, has abandoned his no-campaign plans, has come out of his corner slugging, and, unless you want to stick your neck out, cannot be counted out.

* * *

Little Money Being Bet.

Around the downtown Columbus section, where politicians from almost every crossroads in Ohio are seen at some time or other during the campaign, there is little money being placed on the gubernatorial contest. However, among the professional bettors, the odds today are 10 to 9 on the former Republican attorney general.

There seems to be little doubt about the outcome of the race for the United States senate seat vacated when Harold H. Burton was elevated to the supreme court by President Truman.

Republican John W. Bricker, former three-time governor and the GOP vice presidential nominee two years ago, is conceded the election. Even Democratic party leaders will tell you that—off the record, of course.

Only thing doubtful is the margin by which Bricker will defeat James W. Huffman, the present senator by virtue of appointment of Governor Lausche.

* * *

Other GOP Victories Seen.

Also apparent winners for the Republicans, according to these same sources, are Paul M. Herbert for lieutenant governor; Don H. Ebright, for re-election as treasurer; Edward J. Hummel, for another term as secretary of state, and Hugh S. Jenkins, again the state's attorney general.

But Republican hopes and prophecies, which seem to have a good chance of realization, do not end there.

The Ohio GOP delegation in congress now numbers 17, the Democrats holding the remaining six seats. George Bender of Cleveland is conceded re-election as congressman-at-large and the other 16 Republican congressmen have better-than-even chances of re-election.

However, the Republicans hope to pick up at least three of the seats now held by the Democrats and privately will concede the re-election of only two of the opposite party—Michael A. Feighan and Robert Crosser, both elected from Cleveland metropolitan districts.

DEPUTY NABS CAR THIEVES

Three Youngstown boys were held by the sheriff's office today on suspicion after they were captured in Lexington yesterday an hour after recovery there of an automobile stolen in Mansfield.

A 1946 model sedan belonging to Avery C. Hand, 619 Austin road, was stolen from in front of a Mansfield bank yesterday afternoon, and was recovered in Lexington half an hour later, due to the quick thinking of a Lexington truck driver.

The sheriff's office said Ralph Switzer, the truck driver, saw three youths in a new automobile pass him on a Lexington street; then stop the car suddenly and run down the street.

Switzer notified Deputy Sheriff Foster Palmer, who lives in Lexington. Palmer captured the boys on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks south of Lexington, and returned them to Mansfield.

The youths, two of whom were 17 and one 19 years old, were quoted by sheriff's officers as stating that they were on their way to California from Youngstown.

No formal charges had been filed against the youths today.

Sports Samovar

By JOHN BARRINGTON

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Scrambled scribblings from the sports samovar. . . . The Northcentral Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has unwittingly tossed a monkey-wrench into several scholastic basketball programs...

A criterion of the association, which is a widely recognized accrediting body, outlaws any "meets or tournaments" involving more than two teams . . .

As strictly interpreted, that ruling would hit nearly everything except state-sponsored tournaments. . . . To protect schools belonging to the Northcentral association, Ohio High School Athletic Commissioner Harold W Emswiler instructed that the regulation be followed to the letter . . . At least until another interpretation can be obtained . . .

Emswiler, personally, favors cage "carnivals" which lump more than one game on a single evening's card. . . . Therefore, he has asked headquarters of the association for a more liberal ruling. . . . As now interpreted, the criterion would jeopardize invitational affairs such as Lima, Mansfield, Canton and many other cities already have on tap. . . .

Emswiler stated that all such "carnivals" which have already received approval from his office will be allowed to continue, no matter what final decision may come from the Northcentral body . . . According to the commissioner, a check reveals that other mid-western states in which the same association holds sway are not governed by so strict an interpretation . . .

The recent Lima Central grid victory at Middletown was the Middies first home defeat since 1942 . . . Thus, present Middletown seniors had never previously lost a home game . . . During the same period, Middie basketball teams lost only three contests . . . The Middies did play one scoreless football tie and could have claimed a forfeit win then . . . In 1944, Portsmouth used an ineligible player, but Middletown wrote the game down as a tie. . . .

F G (Gus) Skibbie of Bowling Green, widely known football and basketball official, dislocated his left shoulder while refereeing last week's Fostoria-Lima South game . . . The injury occurred when Skibbie slipped on the wet turf and attempted to break his fall with his arm . . . Dennison high gridders had a close call when a bus taking them to see the Muskingum-Wooster college game collided with at tractor. . . . No one was injured. . . .

Mansfield Tire & Rubber company has arranged a nine-coach special train to take employes and the Mansfield high school band to Friday night's game at Toledo Waite. . . . Ohio State Athletic Publicist Bill Snypp predicts another near sellout for the OSU-Pitt game. . . . Only 8,000 seats are left. . . . Pete Perini, the Bucks' freshman fullback who does a lot of the team's kicking, is rated a great baseball prospect by Billy Southworth. . . . He should know.

State high school ranks abound in great backfield talent this fall . . . Mentioning only a few, there are . . . Ralph Pucci of Canton McKinley . . . Dick Boykin of Ironton . . . Karl Sturtz of Coshocton . . . Joe Nuxhall of Hamilton . . . Wilbur Brown of Kenton . . . Kenny Horvath Mansfield ace who is out with a broken leg . . . Al Brown of Massillon . . . and Lima Central's duo of Bill Sharp and Park Blubaugh.

WAITE BOASTS VETERAN SQUAD

17 Indian Lettermen Rarin' to Go

Toledo Waite's Indians will be really loaded for bear (in this case Tygers) Friday night when the Mansfield Senior high school footballers invade the Waite tepee.

Jack Mollenkopf has 17 lettermen returning off his 1945 state championship squad and the Indians are reportedly a better club this season, although they did drop an 8 to 6 decision to unbeaten Toledo Libbey Waite has won six contests this season

Mansfield pushed the '45 Waite aggregation all over Stadium field but emerged on the short end of a 27 to 12 count. The present Indian warpathers are stronger at the end and halfback positions.

Bob Dedo, 160-pound junior end, is the only player to crack Mollenkopf's veteran list. The attack is built around Bill Gregus, 185-pound fullback, and Bob Carson, 167-pound junior halfback.

Gregus, who rips over tackle with plenty of authority, is touted as the No 1 Indian although Carson leads the scoring parade with 70 points In addition he has passed for six markers Gregus has notched nine touchdowns while little Joe Kovesdi, Carson's understudy, has 40 points to his credit

Waite uses the same box formation it used last year but Mollenkopf had added a little more of the T to the attack The Indians have used a lot of power plays over tackle but because of the Tygers' vaunted defensive strength they may be cooking up something new in the way of strategy

Mollenkopf has been putting his charges through secret drills all week

Mansfield always one of the top drawing powers in Toledo has helped swell the anticipated attendance to 14,000

Don Kowalka and Elmer Scallish, co-captains, are the Waite line standouts. Kowalka is a 180-pound guard while Scallish, a tackle, tips the scales at 196 pounds. Both are seniors.

Remainder of the Waite starting lineup follows Guido Tamburend, Al Hepler, tackle, Pete Vas, guard, Steve Torda, center, Walter Young and Dick Davis, backs

Waite's other lettermen are Joe Durst, end, Tom Haynes and Leon Naveaux, tackle, Glen Rae guard, Walter Peppers, center Jim Schaetzke and Ted Stevens, backs

STADIUM COMPLETION OUTLOOK BRIGHTENS

Hope for the additional 6 000 seats on the south side of the Mansfield Tygers' new football stadium, located on Route 30N at Trimble road, looked much brighter today, Dr. D. A Weir announced

Ten days ago a bond drive was started to procure the necessary $150 000 to complete and equip the stadium Weir said that approximately sixty-five $500 bonds have already been sold.

An unusual financing plan, calling for use of football tickets to pay the interest on this additional loan was announced at the start of the drive If successful it would permit completion of 12,000 seats in the Mansfield Senior high school's new athletic plant

Besides the stadium, proper added equipment includes team facilities, such as dressing rooms, showers, toilets, a band room, equipment room, football class room, coach and officials' office, public toilet facilities and a concession area.

American Legion Post 16 made the biggest contribution by purchasing two $00 bonds at the opening of the campaign.

For each $500 note the lender will receive (without cost) two season tickets in a preferred location for the tenure of the note In addition the lender will be privileged to purchase two additional season books for seats adjacent to the free duets.

Half of the stadium 6 000 seats, will definitely be finished for the 1947 season with completion of the other half contingent on the successful carrying-out of the ticket-for-interest plan Increasing public interest in the Tygers was the motivating power behind the new drive for funds.

Heading the committee in charge of this drive are Weir, Harold Arlin, president of the board of education and Senior High School Athletic Association, W L Miller, superintendent of schools, and W J Spring

James Hoffman is in charge of sales for the Junior Chamber of Commerce

Yank Pilot Rumor-Race Going Strong

NEW YORK —(UP)— Frankie Frisch and New York Yankee President Larry MacPhail spent yesterday afternoon in conversation and today the name of the former "Fordham Flash" was in the lead in the marathon rumor-race concerning the Yank managership

Charley Dressen, newly-appointed to an unrevealed Yankee job said that he was present during most of the afternoon and that "we just talked about baseball in general"

Frisch, former manager of the St Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates resigned from the Pirate post at the end of the 1946 season and has been seeking another baseball job

'Bix' Stresses Speed Aplenty

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Coach Paul Bixler is emphasizing speed in preparing Ohio State for Saturday's game at Northwestern—a contest that can make or break the Bucks' 1946 Western conference chances

Speed made the Bucks look surprisingly good against Minnesota Bixler agreed But Northwestern has a faster defense and a more powerful running attack he added

In a workout of nearly two hours yesterday the coach concentrated his charges on blocking and defensive play, with the backs stressing aerial offense and defense.

After the session, Bixler said he intended to "go against the Wildcats with practically the same ball club we used Saturday in the Minnesota game"

That meant he intended to keep George Spencer in the first-string quarterback position to which the Bixley gridder was elevated for the game with the Gophers

While no serious injuries were reported in the Bucks squad these second and third string players did not participate in yesterday's drill because of minor hurts Guards Wib Schneider and Ray Depierro, Center Howard Duncan, Tackle Jack Wilson and Fullback Dave Templeton

Mid-term examinations kept several other players out of yesterday's practice Some junior varsity players were used for the short scrimmage at the end of the drill

Johnny Mandarino, Syracuse's freshman fullback, played 60 minutes against both Penn State and Holy Cross

TOUCHDOWN TOMMY—Tom Harmon, the former Michigan All-American, is going great guns for the Los Angeles Rams of the National football league. Tom has carried the pigskin 26 times for 179 yards. His average of 6.8 yards a carry is tops in the league. His longest run of 84 came as the Rams tied the Chicago Bears several weeks ago. He has scored four touchdowns.

Army 11 Faces 2 Big Threats

NEW YORK —(INS)— Army faces not one, but two, potent threats to its bid for another unbeaten season and another national championship

The two threats of course are Notre Dame and Penn, both undefeated whom Army must meet on succeeding Saturdays

And Penn concedes nothing to Army even if the Kaydets should defeat the Irish. The reason for this is two-fold: First, Penn thinks it is powerful enough on any given day to have a good chance against Army; and second, Penn figures that Army is sure to absorb quite a beating and perhaps suffer a considerable let-down after playing Notre Dame, regardless of the outcome.

The bookies, who already are quoting 8 to 10 and pick em on the Army-Notre Dame battle, are fully aware of the possibilities in the Penn-Army situation, and are awaiting the outcome of the Army-Notre Dame game before quoting prices on Army and Penn

We have seen Columbia beat Navy, Army beat Columbia, and Penn beat Navy So we have a reasonably accurate slant on the respective merits of Army and Navy

We are inclined to favor Army over Penn, not because of Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis, but rather because of Army's two wonderful ends, Henry Foldberg and George Poole

PICKING PIGSKIN TILTS IN MIDWEST

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Northwestern 27, Ohio State 13—with the Buckeyes bouncing back into contention after walloping Minnesota 39-9—the same team that Northwestern was hard pressed to defeat 14-7 two weeks ago—this homecoming engagement should be the Wildcats' toughest test thus far . . . Northwestern's line, which held Michigan's running attack to a net of 80 yards, will face such Buckeye backfield aces as Joe Whisler, who has tallied 42 points this season, Alex Verdova, Bob Brugge, Jerry Krall and Tommy James . . . The Wildcats can counter with the passing of four quarterbacks, led by Jerry Carle, and the running of Vic Schwall, Art Murakowski and Frank Aschenbrenner who have rolled up 592 yards on 99 carries in three conference outings . . . Northwestern appears to have the line and the offensive power to remain undefeated this week.

Illinois 20 Iowa 14—This is purely a shot in the dark. . . . The Illini began to live up to pre-season promise by upsetting Michigan 13-9 while the Hawkeyes were being trounced 41-6 by Notre Dame. . . The Iowa coach, Dr. Eddie Anderson, has a job on his hands getting his team "up" for this important conference clash, which is also the Hawkeyes' homecoming . . . The Illini appear to be clicking with the backfield of Paul Patterson, Julie Rykovich, Perry Moss and Russ Steger and are definitely buoyed for this game to keep in the running for the Big Nine crown.

Michigan 21 Minnesota 7—the Wolverines' line, considerably outweighed, has been drilling all week on the art of outcharging and outspeeding the Gophers and much of the game's outcome probably will rest on play of the forwards . . . Michigan also had the good news that Fullback Bob Wiese, injured in the Illinois tussle, will be ready for service against Minnesota . . . After being floored 39-9 by Ohio State it is unlikely the Gophers have the steam to get past Michigan, which still has title ambitions

Wisconsin 26 Purdue 13—the Badgers have lost their last three games against Purdue, but this should be their turn to win . . . With an open date last week, they've had a chance to build up for this one after losing to a rallying Illinois team two weeks ago . . . The Badgers, like the Boilermakers, are fairly hard hit with injuries . . . They'll be minus seven reserve players and their best punter

Indiana 27 Pitt 7—for the second successive Saturday, the Hoosiers—who lost their last conference game 13-0 to Iowa—meet outside opposition. . . . After piling it on Nebraska, 27-7, they should run up a matching score, or better, against Pitt, which was edged 10-8 by Purdue last week.

Notre Dame 42 Navy 13—A good warmup for the Irish-Army game the following Saturday. . Navy should be an easy victim No. 5 on the Notre Dame list.

Marquette 14 Detroit 13—the Hilltoppers figure to be at full strength for the first time this season as they shoot for their fifth victory over Detroit in 13 starts since 1920.

Kentucky 14 Michigan State 7—the Spartans are whipping up a strong aerial attack, but it doesn't promise to be enough to overcome the Southerners' balanced offense

1947 Ram Club Gets Practice

Mansfield Madison is taking advantage of an open date this week to give the 1947 varsity a chance to gain experience on the gridiron

Although the Freddies scored 12 of their 19 points the last quarter, DeHaven was well satisfied with the way his second and third stringers handled themselves The reserves added 12 points to the total in the fourth period

The Rams meet Millersburg a week from Saturday in the final game of the season on the Madison field at 8 p m Millersburg is in last place in the Northeastern Buckeye league and the Rams will be after their sixth victory against two setbacks
